

New Company News!

Exciting news for the ECATTS/ESOHTN team! First, we have officially been accepted as a Certified Woman Owned Small Business and are now a corporate member of the Women's Business Enterprise National Council's (WBENC) Network!

And on top of that, ECATTS has officially been awarded the title of "Ecology approved operator trainer" for Underground Storage Tanks from the state of Washington's environmental regulatory agency. Our state specific UST training can now be taken to become a certified A/B operator in Washington. This training is targeted to be available on your ECATTS training site this August.

ECATTS Hosts Training Webinar

Recently, our own Sarah Spalding, Customer Support Manager, hosted an "Enhanced Administration Training" webinar available to all ECATTS users. This webinar was held on June 22nd and presented an overview of the NAVFAC administrator area. Also covered were ways to customize each installation's site and training to help personalize your site to fit your needs.

Don't worry if you missed it live. The video will be available for viewing in the Navy administration area of your ECATTS site.

Navy Homepage Revisions

Have you noticed any changes to your ECATTS site? Our development team has been working on an update cycle to refresh the look and operation of your training pages giving a cleaner, more consistent look throughout. Future changes will update the registration page, add a new training summary page and make the site more device friendly, providing better display on screens of all sizes, as well as mobile devices.

These updates will be incorporated over time and will not affect the overall operation and usability of the site.

*"Education is power.
Thank you for providing this training to us.
A lot of very valuable information for people who aren't conscious of their impact to the environment."*

Updates & Enhancements

More Knowledge Checks have recently been added to our training modules! This enhanced user experience, added to test your comprehension of the material, can now be found on certain state modules, contractor modules, and Navy-specific trainings.

Spanish language courses have also been added or updated to your ECATTS training curriculums. Most state-specific and general awareness modules now have Spanish translations for your benefit. We are continuing to add more translations with a target completion date at the end of summer.

Summer Support Tip

Have you updated your base contacts list in ECATTS recently? You can find each base's contacts under the "Documents and Contact Information" link located on your homepage. To view and update the list for your base, simply log into your administrator account and click on the "List Base Contacts" or "Update Base Contacts" link found on the left side of your Admin page. Now is a good time to check and make sure that your base's contacts are up to date!
