

New Company News!

Exciting news for the ECATTS/ESOHTN team! First, we have officially been accepted as a Certified Woman Owned Small Business and are now a corporate member of the Women's Business Enterprise National Council's (WBENC) Network!

And on top of that, ECATTS has officially been awarded the title of "Ecology approved operator trainer" for Underground Storage Tanks from the state of Washington's environmental regulatory agency. Our state specific UST training can now be taken to become a certified A/B operator in Washington.

Training Webinars Available

Recently, our own Sarah Spalding, Customer Support Manager, hosted an "Enhanced Administration Training" webinar for Navy personnel. This webinar was held on June 22nd and presented an overview of their NAVFAC administrator area. Also covered were ways to customize each installation's site and training to help personalize the sites to fit any needs.

If your installation is interested in a training webinar of your own, contact us at support@esohtn.com to schedule.

Updates & Enhancements

More Knowledge Checks have recently been added to our training modules! This enhanced user experience, added to test your comprehension of the material, can now be found on certain state and contractor modules.

Spanish language courses have also been added or updated to your ESOHTN training curriculums. Most state-specific and general awareness modules now have Spanish translations for your benefit. We are continuing to add more translations with a target completion date at the end of summer.

Summer Support Tip

Have you updated your base contacts list in ESOHTN recently? You can find each base's contacts under the "Documents and Contact Information" link located on your homepage. To view and update the list for your base, simply log into your administrator account and click on the "List Base Contacts" or "Update Base Contacts" link found on the left side of your Admin page. Now is a good time to check and make sure that your base's contacts are up to date!

Remember, always feel free to contact us directly at support@esohtn.com for any assistance.
